LIONS OFFICERS FOR 1953-54 ARE INSTALLED MON.

The Bay St. Louis Lions Club has completed the nomination, election and installation of the new officers for 1953-54. Past President Charles S. Schultz, local Methodist pastor, installed the new president, Clifford H. Parke, 107 Court St.

The new Lions Club head in resident manager for Blossman Gas, Inc., and came to Bay St. Louis early in 1952. Mr. and Mrs. Parke are members of Main Street Methodist Church, and have one daughter, Mrs. Fred Seal of Gulfport. The new president is a former member of the Gulfport Lions Club, where he has a five year perfect attendance record. Together with Past President Thomas Anderson of the Gulfport Lions, he helped to organize this Bay St. Louis Lions Club, and became a charter member and its second president.

Installed along with Parke were the following new officers: Warren Carter as 1st Vice President; J. Cyril Glover as 2nd Vice President; L. A. Fortenberry as 3rd Vice President; Russell Chapman as Secretary; John Damborino as Treasurer; Earl Ramond as Lion Tamer; Rev. Schultz as Tail Twister; John Scalfide and Alton A. Barber as 2 year directors and Emilie Piazza as a 1 year director. Theodore Thomas is also a 1 year director.

In a short address, the new President pledged his support of a continued program of community service, for an enlarged club of outstanding local citizens and of cooperation with the Bay Rotary Club and all city and county officials.

The City-County Memorial Library is making headway moving into its new quarters on Court Street, and July 29 has been set as formal opening date.

Miss Louise Crawford and Miss Mary Edwards, librarians, are being assisted in the work of moving by Gregory Necaise, Jack Husband and F. B. Klein Sr.

In addition to the many gifts of volumes already received, the Robert L. Crager Publishing Company of New Orleans will contribute a complete list of their publications in memory of Kenneth T. Knoblock, a former resident of Waveland and author of many books. Among the listings from this donation are "Lafitte the Pirate," "Fabulous New Orleans" and "Children of Strangers," by Lyle Saxon; "Frenchmen Desire Goodchildren," a volume on New Orleans street names by John Chase; "Madam Toussaint's Wedding Day," by Thad St. Martin, and "European Travel Guide" by Harold Newman.

A complete set of Knoblock's works also is being gathered for the new library.

When the new building is opened for public use, the many fine volumes will supply a Class A library for Hancock County. The pleasant reading rooms and methodical stacks will enable patrons to thoroughly enjoy the best of library benefits.

Although contributions still are coming in daily, the library still is $1,674.43 short of its goal, as only $4,832.57 has been received to date in the drive for $10,000.

Recent donations and payments on pledges are:

Mr. & Mrs. C. C. McDonald	25.00
Anonymous	25.00
Olivia & Mary Eagan	20.00
Mrs. Elizabeth Yates	10.00
Harry Glover Sr.	10.00
Mrs. W. W. Rolph	10.00
Mrs. E. F. Bailey	10.00
Henry Chapman	5.00

$14,102.60 DRAGLINE IS PURCHASED LAST WEEK BY BEATS 2, 4 AND 5

A $14,102.60 dragline was purchased last week by three beats in Hancock County.

Supervisors Keller, Lott and Hubbard of Beats 2, 4 and 5 made the purchase from the Mississippi Road Supply Co.

Bids on compressors were advertised for by the Board, and three bids were submitted, but the Board rejected their right to reject any or all bids and decided to wait until a later date for the purchase of the compressors.

It was said the bids of machinery will materially aid and expedite work on the road in the county.

ANNOUNCE BIRTH

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Richardson of 408 1/2 Ave. Street announce the arrival of Shirley, 10 1/2 little sister, Linda Kay, born on July 10. She weighed 10 1/2 pounds and was 19 1/2 inches long. The baby is the first grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. Richardson. Mrs. Richardson was Miss Shirley Benson.

Legion To Ask For Investigation Of Key West Incident

The local American Legion Tuesday night passed a resolution to join the Gulfport Legion post in a measure calling for assistance of the state and national departments in launching an immediate investigation of measures purportedly taken by high ranking Navy officials in the case of Lt. Commander Jerry McDaniel case.

The action was taken as the result of an address by Col. E. A. Wink of Gulfport. Col. Wink told the Bay St. Louis Legion and Auxiliary at their Tuesday night meeting that "action was indicated by every Legionnaire and citizen."

Commander McDaniel is tentatively scheduled to be given a court martial hearing at Charleston, S. C. on charges arising from an alleged "lewd" show staged at Key West, Fla. last February as part of a fund drive for the benefit of a Navy charity fund drive. Commander McDaniel is Col. Wink's son-in-law.

Col. Wink, quoting from an article by columnist Drew Pearson, gave the following version of the Key West incident.

"Red-faced Admirals are trying to shush up a spicy scandal at the Key West Naval Base involving some lewd movies and a strip-tease dancer who wrestled with enlisted men at a Navy 'smoker'."

"Aftermath of the unusual Navy entertainment has been the transfer of base commander Adm. Irving T. Duke to Charleston, S. C. the jailing of Lt. Comdr. Jerry McDaniel, while the chaplain who protested the strip-tease act and lewd movies, Lt. Comdr. Green Imbrie, is being transferred to inactive duty."

"Chaplain Imbrie had first protested the lewd movies to the Naval Air Commandant, Capt. A. E. Buckley. When this did not stop a second show he wrote directly to Washington. His reward will be retirement July 31, though the Navy will not admit the two have any connection. Captain Buckley's 'reward' was heart trouble. He was immediately confined to his bed with a heart attack and remained inaccessible to certain visitors."

"Real scandal in the end may be the way the Navy railroaded Commander McDaniel as the scapegoat. McDaniel is not an Annapolis man. Other top brass are. He was held 40 days virtually incommunicado in the Navy Brig without a charge being filed against him, which is contrary to the Bill of Rights. While he was held, Navy brass scratched their heads as to what charges they should file against him."

"After all, it would be highly embarrassing to charge him with arranging a strip-tease show under Navy auspices. So navy investigators raided his desk, pounced upon a bottle and tried to show that McDaniel was taking dope. It was also suggested he was acting as if he might commit suicide."

"But the plot was exploded," continued Col. Wink, "when a Navy doctor, Lt. William E. Peredini, admitted that superior officers had come to him with the dope charge and the suicide suggestion. Peredini further testified that the seized dope was nothing but vitamin pills and that McDaniel had no suicidal tendencies."

"The trouble all began from a most worthy motive — raising a record $70,000 for Key West charities. Someone suggested it might be a good idea to borrow some spicy films from the local American Legion and throw a 'smoker.' Captain Buckley did not disapprove of the idea, and his subordinates felt they had the go-ahead signal."

"There is no record that Admiral Duke, himself, was consulted though he was responsible for all activities at the base. The 'smoker' idea was taken up with his office, however, and his subordinates requested only that it be cleared with the city authorities," Col. Wink said.

"Still quoting Pearson's article, Col. Wink continued: 'The city fathers not only gave their OK, but turned out enthusiastically for the first show. Holding down the baldheaded row at the first show were Key West's Mayor C. E. Harvey, City Manager Dave King, Chief of Police Joe Kamp, Superintendent of Schools Jack Guthrie, City Commissioner John Carbone and Florida Circuit Judge Raymond Lord.'"

"Some complained afterward that the movies were not spicy enough, so a second 'smoker' was scheduled, again for charity. But Chaplain Imbrie had heard that the movies were 'raunchy.' He called on Captain Buckley and registered his objections."

"Civilian witnesses were left free to go anywhere they wished, however, and Howard McDonald, a civilian guest, went along with the arrangements where McDaniel left at McDaniel's home."

YC Dance To Be Saturday

The Bay-Waveland Yacht Club will entertain on Saturday night for members and guests with dinner, followed by a dance. Music will be by Papa Celestin's Band.

Reservations can be made by calling the club, it was said. Dancing will be from 9 to 11 o'clock, with admission $2.00 per couple, $1.50 stag.

by-passed the American Legion, obtained juicier films, and after the movies, Sheila, the strip-tease lady, mysteriously appeared and began shedding her clothes. Finally she called to the crowd: 'Want to wrestle?' Three obliging sailors then assisted her in her act.

"Following this second smoker, Chaplain Imbrie appealed to the Navy's head chaplain for advice, and wrote a full report to Washington."

"This raised eyebrows right up to the Secretary of the Navy," Col. Wink said. "On March 6, McDaniel was thrown in the brig. And McDonald, the civilian clerk, was suspended. A week later, Captain Buckley was rushed to the hospital with a heart attack. It wasn't long afterward that Admiral Duke was promoted to be commander of the Sixth Naval District and was transferred to Charleston, S. C."

"Meanwhile, Captain Buckley was questioned in his sick bed by the Navy investigators, but, the day afterward, he was pronounced 'too sick' to be investigated by McDaniel's attorney. His court-martial will take place in July."

"Note—Admiral Duke and Captain Buckley are Annapolis graduates. McDaniel worked up from enlisted ranks to lieutenant commander. His fitness reports consistently rate him among the top 10 per cent of Navy officers, but he doesn't belong to the so-called 'Annapolis Protective Association'." Col. Wink concluded.

Mrs. Viola Haas, Klin, medical patient.

Welton Necaise, broken nose.

Imogene Necaise, daughter of Welton Necaise, medical patient.

Mrs. Frank Ladner, virus pneumonia, discharged.

Mildred Ann Church, medical, discharged.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Purvis Deschamps, born July 11, boy.

Mr. and Mrs. Ruter Carver, born July 9, boy.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wheat, born July 13, boy.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Parker, born July 14, girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Richardson, born July 10, girl.

Qualified voters of the Town of Waveland went to the polls Tuesday, July 14, and voted overwhelmingly in favor of floating bond issues for two separate propositions.

The results are as follows:

For Proposition No. 1 — "Shall the Town of Waveland, Miss., issue its waterworks system revenue bonds in the maximum amount of $142,000 to pay the cost of constructing a waterworks system for said town?"

Result: 209 FOR, 23 AGAINST

For Proposition No. 2 — "Shall the Town of Waveland, Miss., issue its general obligation waterworks system bonds in the maximum amount of $60,000 to provide funds to pay the cost of constructing a waterworks system for said town?"

Result: 205 FOR, and 25 AGAINST

For proposition No. 3 — "Shall the Town of Waveland, Miss., issue its natural gas transmission and distribution system revenue bonds in the maximum amount of $228,000, to pay the cost of constructing a natural gas and distribution system for the said town?"

Result: 250 FOR and 27 AGAINST

For proposition No. 4 — "Shall the Town of Waveland, Miss., issue its general obligation natural gas transmission and distribution system bonds in the maximum amount of $40,000, to provide funds to pay for the cost of constructing a natural gas and distribution system for said town?"

Result: 204 FOR, and 28 AGAINST

As a result of the election, the Board of Mayor and Aldermen of Waveland will meet in regular session at a later date to take the proper steps for the issuance of the bonds.

This will be a great step toward the building of a bigger and better town, and the citizens are to be commended for making plans for such improvement to their town.

The Commission Council said this week they will issue an invitation to M. R. Black, District Railroad Superintendent from Mobile, to meet with them to discuss the possibility of all passenger trains passing through Bay St. Louis stopping to discharge and pick up passengers.

The Council's decision was made in response to numerous letters received from civic organizations and individuals pointing out that with the recent discontinuance of three trains the failure of some of the passenger trains passing through Bay St. Louis to stop was working a hardship on this section of the Coast.

The letters pointed out that there is a Mississippi Law to the effect that all passenger trains passing through a county seat must stop. They requested that the Commission Council ask that all passenger trains through Bay St. Louis stop.

Letters have been received by the City Council from the American Legion, Chamber of Commerce, Home Owners Association, Commuters Association and Dr. E. C. Samuel. Other groups who have signified their intention to submit letters are the Rotary Club, the Lions Club, and possibly the Garden Club.

Three trains to New Orleans stop in Bay St. Louis every morning: Train 99 at 5:35 a. m.; Train 33 at 6:59 a. m.; and Train 9 at 7:15 a. m. Train 5 at 1:50 p. m. makes 25 stops for any reason, while Train 525, stops to discharge passengers from Montgomery, Ala., to beyond. The next train to N. O., at 3:50, stops in the Bay.

This makes a period from 7:15 a. m. until 5:50 p. m. or more, there is no passenger train service to New Orleans. In addition to this Train 43 at 6:59 a. m. reportedly is "consistently late" and Train 1 at 1:50 a. m. also is said to be consistently late and is reported as being undependable for making any connections at New Orleans.

Trains from New Orleans through Bay St. Louis include:

Train 47 at 5:40 a. m., makes all stops.

Train 6 at 11:04 a. m., makes all stops.

Any reason, Train 35 at 5:15 p. m., stops at Bay St. Louis.

Train 12, starting at 3:50 a. m. and at all points on Coast except Bay St. Louis, 10:15 p. m., makes all stops.

Train 44 at 12:15 p. m., makes all stops.

Trains from Bay St. Louis to New Orleans include:

Train 99 at 5:35 a. m., makes all stops.

Train 33 at 6:59 a. m., makes all stops.

Train 9 at 7:15 a. m., makes all stops.

Train 5 at 1:50 p. m., makes 25 stops for any reason.

Train 525, stops to discharge passengers from Montgomery, Ala., to beyond.

The next train to N. O., at 3:50, stops in the Bay.

MAQUIER - BELIVEAU WEDDING VOWS ARE EXCHANGED IN CALIF.

A beautiful and impressive ceremony on Sunday, June 21, in St. Jude's Episcopal Church at Henderson, Minn., when Miss Anna Mae Beliveau became the bride of John Maquier, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Maquier of Bay St. Louis.

The Rev. Genn Reid officiated at the double ring ceremony which took place at three o'clock in the afternoon.

White tulle filled with gladioli, anemones and anemones, banked either side of the altar. Tall candles with lighted cathedral tapers provided a soft candlelight setting for the wedding. Miss Carol Erickson, cousin of the bride sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Prayer Perfect" before the ceremony and then sang "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt before the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was crowned in tulle and wore a gown of white tulle over a skirt of white sheer nylon tulle over a skirt of white sheer nylon tulle. The groom wore a tuxedo with a white shirt and white accessories. The ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Maquier, of Bay St. Louis.

John W. Dupequier Jr., brother of the bridegroom, was best man and Raymond T. Beliveau, brother of the bride, was the other attendant. The wedding reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Maquier, of Bay St. Louis.

Putting Down Roots in Mississippi

Not many years ago Mississippi had millions of acres of barren, cut-over land ill-suited for the growing of row crops. These useless, unproductive acres contributed almost nothing to the income or future stability of the state.

But this picture is changing. Enlightened groups and individuals — in cooperation with the Mississippi Forestry Association — have encouraged Mississippi farmers and land owners to reforest millions of these acres of privately owned land.

With idle acres at work growing trees, Mississippi's wood-using industries are assured of a future source of supply. As a result, these industries are becoming increasingly self-sufficient and are no longer dependent on outside sources for their raw materials.

BAY SENIORS TO MEET JRS. KILN SUN IN TWIN BILL HERE

The new, up-and-coming Bay Seniors baseball team will play a doubleheader this Sunday at the local diamond on Highway 90 at Dunbar Ave.

First game will be with the Kiln Wildcats, at 1:30 p. m., in a 7-inning contest. Following the Seniors-Kiln game, the Seniors will meet Father Taylor's Bay Juniors, who lost a 6-inning pitcher's duel to St. Claude's Hardware in New Orleans Tuesday by a score of 1-0.

The Bay Seniors have a season record of 2-2, having been downed by Pass Christian twice, with one win over the Pass team and a win last Sunday over another local team.

CONGRESSIONAL SIDELIGHTS

BY
CONGRESSMAN WILLIAM M. COLMER

The anti-Communist world received the news of the ousting of L. P. Beria, one of the Russian rulers, with great interest but mixed emotions. The question on the lips of all students of the Russian system is, "What does this mean?"

It could mean one of several things. First it could mean that a scapegoat must be found for the riots and unrest that prevailed in the Soviet-dominated satellite countries, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Poland and to a lesser degree other satellite countries. Beria, as one of the big three dominating the affairs of Russia following the death of Stalin, was also the head of the dreaded Secret Police and as such was primarily responsible for keeping the people of these satellite countries under control.

Naturally, the Russian people are asking some questions themselves as to why these satellite people are revolting. They might reason that if the people of the satellite countries could get by with a revolt that they too could revolt. Therefore, one answer that Malenkov, as titular head, could give is that Beria was responsible. Therefore Beria's head must go.

Secondly, another answer as to the meaning of the demise of the most hated man of all the Russian rulers, the head of the Secret Police, is that the Russian people themselves are on the verge of revolt. They don't like the Russian NKVD anymore than the people of Germany liked the Gestapo. Therefore, the removal of Beria could be an appeasement to the Russian people.

Thirdly, it could mean, as we pointed out in this column upon the death of Stalin, that once the "king" was dead, there would likely be a scramble for power among those who wanted to succeed the "king."

At that time a hasty compromise was effected with Malenkov, Molotov, and Beria assuming joint control, with Malenkov as the nominal head. The question then was how long this setup would operate with the jealousies prevailing within the Kremlin itself. Obviously, this could be, and most likely is, a move on the part of Malenkov and Molotov to remove a powerful Secret Police, which could and possibly would send rolling in the dust the head of either one of them.

But, regardless of which of these theories is correct, the fact remains that the Kremlin of today is weakened and most anything can happen. The one great hope for the removal of the Russian menace to a peaceful world is internal dissension within the Kremlin. That hope is brightened.

EXCESS PROFITS TAX

After months of skirmishing and internal dissension in the Republican ranks, President Eisenhower finally prevailed in his fight for a six months extension of the excess profits tax. After beating the bill out of the Ways and Means Committee over the opposition of the adamant Chairman, 78-year-old Daniel A. Reed of New York, the House passed the bill by an overwhelming vote of 325 to 77.

We agree with all of those who characterize the tax as a bad tax. All taxes are bad. But we agree with the big majority of the members of the House on the theory that since there was to be no tax relief for the little taxpayer, we could not see our way clear to remove this tax from the big corporations. Particularly in this

A Doctor's Views On This & That

BY DR. C. M. SHIPP

Do you sometimes wonder what occupies the doctor's mind when he is disposed to think analytically and tries to figure out what makes things tick?

I mean when he is not listening to the complaints of patients about their pains and miseries sprinkled with a few statements about their family troubles, his ear is the recipient of a lot of foolishness. People use a thousand words when a few would suffice. How pleasant it is to tell a long tale of woe when we have attentive ears. It often does the patient good to dilute his troubles, although annoying. It is easier to listen than to try to shut them off. A successful doctor must be a good listener. This is one way to manifest sympathy. We all like to be felt sorry for.

Straight line thinking in the field of pure science is too tedious, the road is long, and the ultimate findings are far in the distance. This is left to the man that is long on patience and acute on observation. It is easier to follow the pattern of the original thinker and improve on his findings, for we have the whole realm of past experiences as a background and don't have to start from scratch. We like applied science and we like to revel in the field of speculation.

To show how this thing works, take for example our newer remedies in the treatment of tuberculosis. We have three drugs that work in combination, two of these drugs being atom bombs in their action while the third plays a lesser role and is a stabilizer which we call a catalytic agent. It helps in the fight against the disease, but takes no part in germ destruction.

Suppose we digress and explain this phenomenon. All living things build up within themselves what we choose to call resistance toward the agency that tries to destroy them, even though it be one cell or a multicell animal, or even the lowly vegetable forms of life that we call bacteria. All of these acquire some form of resistance.

Now, we don't have to kill all of the harmful germs to stop the disease, because the life cycle of the germ, except spore bearers, is short. In fact, so short that if we stop the multiplication of the offending germs, we bring the disease under control.

Streptomycin is the giant killer that stops TB germs and does it rapidly. But it is Nature's plan for all life to reproduce its kind in order to perpetuate the species and this law holds true in all forms of life. So the TB action of streptomycin, and if you please build up a resistance to the drug. If let alone, these colonies would become true when we consider the further fact that the Treasury is now faced with a five to ten billion dollar deficit this year to be added to the already stupendous debt of 267 billion dollars.

In the consideration of the application for a closed rule in the Rules Committee we offered an amendment to make in order an exemption up to 100 thousand dollars so as to ease the burden on small corporations. This lost by a tie vote.

ARTHRITIS?

I have been wonderfully blessed in being restored to active life after being crippled in nearly every joint in my body and with muscular aches from head to foot. I had Rheumatoid Arthritis and other forms of Rheumatism, hands deformed and my ankles were set. Limited space prohibits telling you more here but if you will write me I will reply at once and tell you how I received this wonderful relief.

WILL HE "GET THE BREAKS?"

Don't misunderstand me. These diseases give immunity for life, but few of them do. To prevent further evidence of these natural laws take polio as an example. If we took the blood from one individual and attempted to use it as a vaccine to prevent other cases, likely the vaccine would be worthless, but if we took the blood from a hundred donors and pooled it by putting it all into one batch and processed it, we find no vaccination that it contains plenty of antibodies that if used as a vaccine would protect children from polio.

Now how did these antibodies get into this pooled blood? It did not just happen. If got into this blood because many of the blood donors had a mild and undetected case of polio some time in their past lives which left the tell-tale signs behind as antibodies. In no other way could this happen.

This law holds good even in violent poisons. Small doses of strychnine or arsenic may be taken into the body until the body builds up what we call a resistance to the drug, sometimes called tolerance. When this tolerance is built up sufficiently high this patient will tolerate a dose of poison large enough to kill a man that had no tolerance to the drug. Further evidence is the morphine addict that requires larger and larger doses of the drug to control his pain.

This diversion has led us far afield; now let us go back to that catalytic agent mentioned earlier and given in connection with streptomycin (paramecino, salicylic acid). This drug might be called a hold-fast. It does not kill nor stop the growth of tubercle bacillus but it does prevent the bacillus from becoming resistant to streptomycin, the king size killer that destroys TB germs. Never before have we been better prepared to meet the challenge the future holds for tuberculosis control.

Travel Tour Acquaints Writers, Club Councilors With State

Newspaper and magazine travel writers, AAA Club representatives and members of the Mississippi Capitol press who were guests of the state on a 1,000-mile tour of Mississippi in April already have started writing glowing reports of the virtues of "The Hospitality State" as a vacation land.

The fifteen guest members of the party covered as many tourist attractions during their week-long tour of Mississippi as they could. They visited the historic old edifices to insure the correct star and interesting chandeliers which originally graced a salon on the famous river boat Robert B. Lee.

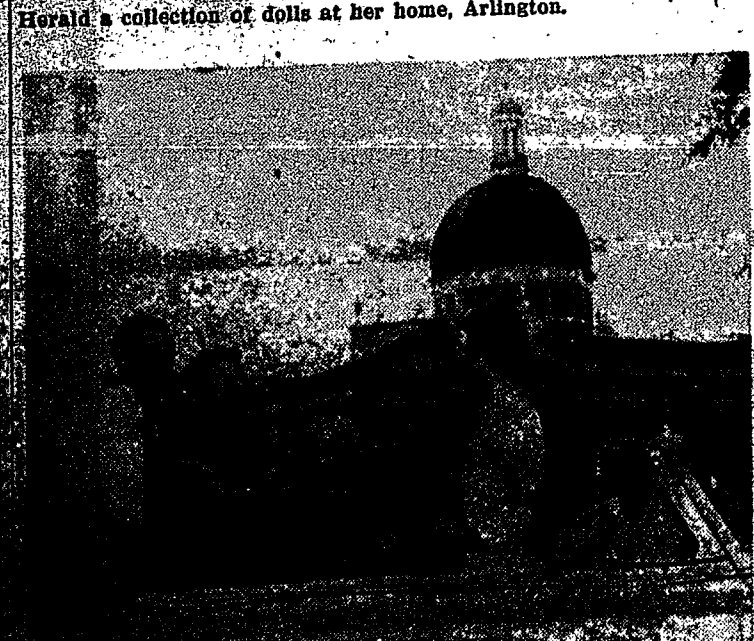

The party paused long enough on its streamlined tour to have the above close-up made as members prepared to board their bus. Left to right, members of the group are: William Burson, United Press; Robert Baur, Houston Chronicle; Clyde Zimmerman, half-hidden; Capper's Farmer, Topeka, Kansas; W. F. ## GULF Discoveries....

...put new names on the Mississippi map and new money in Mississippi pockets.

Gulf holds credit for discovery of nine Mississippi oil and gas fields; has contributed to the drilling of wildcat wells which have located many more reservoirs in this state...and Gulf's exploratory drills are this minute biting through Mississippi rock in search of new reservoirs of oil and natural gas.

Gulf has invested more than $100 million in Mississippi, exploring for and developing the oil and gas production which has added so heavily to the expansion of the state's economy since 1939. Gulf's total income from its Mississippi operations is still many millions less than its total expenditures.

Gulf is a proud corporate citizen of Mississippi... proud to be a part of and a contributor to the state's rapid growth in the fields of industry and commerce. ### SLOT MACHINE POPULATION DOWN IN STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

JACKSON, Miss.—Records of the federal government indicated the slot machine population in Mississippi has dropped to a point of near extinction.

The government today closed its books on stamps issued for gambling and amusement machines for the fiscal year ending at midnight. And the approaching death of the slot machine occupies the most striking column on the ledger.

James L. Enoch, federal director for Internal Revenue in Mississippi, reported these figures on the number of slot machines in the state:

Fiscal year ending June 30, 1953, 181 slot machines; fiscal year ended June 30, 1952, 1,016 slots.

His figures show that 4,521 per cent were seized for gambling during 1952 compared with 4,182 issued for the year ending tonight.

Officials said the decline of the gambling machine—almost exclusively slots—is attributable to several factors.

Principal factor stated was "better enforcement of gambling laws by sheriffs on the Gulf Coast of the state where nearly all of the gambling machines were located."

Gov. Hugh White had a hand in it too following a crackdown and warning that if slots didn't go from the Coast he would send in the National Guard to smash everything in sight.

Another reason given for the decline of the machines which constituted the largest single source of gambling revenue, was the new two-year-old federal-law prohibiting the interstate movement of gambling devices.

That stopped slot machine operators from running their machines into another state when the heat was too great to operate.

And still another factor in Mississippi was the federal investigation more than a year ago of gambling and vice conditions in the Keester Field area at Biloxi.

Enochs said that operators of machines in use as of July 1 had until July 31 to pay taxes on the devices for the new fiscal year.

Stamps for slot machines cost operators $250 a year to the federal government.

Four pedestrians were killed and thirty-two injured as compared to four killed and ten injured the same month last year. Fourteen per cent of the traffic deaths in May, 1953, was pedestrians.

These figures were released this week by Col. T. B. Birdsong, Commissioner of Public Safety.

It is rather alarming to think more people were killed in the rural areas than in the cities or towns of the state.

This certainly should give rural people something to think about and what can be done to avoid this tremendous loss of life and injuries which occur each month in our rural areas of Mississippi and Hancock County.

The week commencing July 19, 1953, has been proclaimed as National Farm Safety Week by President Dwight Eisenhower. Also Memorandum No. 1326 National Farm Safety Week, July 19-25, 1953, from the Secretary of Agriculture, Ezra Taft Benson calling upon the nation to observe the week beginning July 19 as National Farm Safety Week.

This is the tenth year in which National Farm Safety Week has been sponsored by the National Safety Council and the Department of Agriculture, in cooperation with the farm safety activities of States and Counties, the farm organizations, farm press and radio and many other groups interested in agriculture.

The following is a Calendar for Safety Week:

Sunday—What is my responsibility toward the safety of others? A good time to reflect on safe equipment and practices is now.

Monday—Home Safety—Do you light your way ahead of you into rooms, up and down stairways? If you don't you may be seeing your doctor soon.

Tuesday—Livestock. Do you lead the bill on a staff? If you don't, the undertaker has left a blank space in his schedule for your family.

Wednesday—Are your hay lofts floored with securely nailed boards? If not, prepare yourself for a fast trip and a sudden stop.

Thursday—Highway Safety. Do you drive as if your life depends upon it? If it does, if you don't, better carry insurance. (Better carry insurance anyway.)

Friday—Machinery. Are all of your safety guards in place? If not, you had better increase your insurance.

Saturday—Review Day. Bulls and tractors are powerful things. Treat them with respect they deserve.

DID YOU KNOW THAT...

Of the fatal accidents that happened to farm folks in 1951 almost as many occurred in and around the house as in the doing of farm work?

Almost half the accidental injuries happened in and around the house? Falls rank first, fire injuries second to keep them from burning.

Keep flammable clear of objects that could trip anyone.

Repair broken steps, porch floors.

Provide a light switch in each room.

Provide lighting for all stairs.

Have handrails on all stairs—indoors and out.

Have a safe ladder or step-ladder to stand on to reach high places.

Do not use flammable liquids to start or heat fires.

Keep matches out of reach of small children.

Provide and insist on the use of adequate seat belts.

Burn flammable trash promptly.

Store flammable fuels outside the house.

Keep and use flammable cleaning fluids at a good distance from any spark or flame—never in the same room.

Farm to live—live to farm facts.

(1) Our Nation is only as strong as the combined productive efforts of resources by which all other productive all-out people. Manpower is the basic resource by which all other productive resources are made useful and available.

Agriculture manpower supplies are limited.

(2) The chances of an Agricultural worker being killed on the job are over three times as great as for a worker in manufacturing. In 1951 there were fourteen thousand and five hundred accidental deaths and 1,250,000 injuries among farm people.

(3) Loss due to accidents affecting farmers, including property and equipment, is estimated as one billion dollars—more than the total of all farm real estate and personal property taxes in 1949.

(4) During recent years agriculture has made rapid strides in technology. Farm output per man-hour in 1952 was 73 per cent higher than the average 1935-39. Effective conservation and utilization of manpower requires that similar progress be made in accident prevention.

(5) A study of one midwestern county revealed that accidents occurred in one year in more than three out of four of the families studied.

(6) Falls, Agricultural Machinery, Animals and Motor Vehicle accidents account, in that order, for nearly two out of three accidents of farm residents.

All persons were killed except one who escaped when a motorcycle and a car collided. Both were killed. We have been told no traffic accident with a motorcycle where the driver and passenger were killed both from the highway while those we can be told about we want to.

Of the 28 killed, 18 were on roads and U. S. Highway 3 were on County roads and 7 on City Streets. 30 were white and 8 were colored. 10 were boys and girls ranging in age from 3 to 19 years of age. 11 were drivers of passenger cars in accidents with only one vehicle involved. 1 on motorcycle. 3 were killed riding bicycles. Of the 28 persons killed 22 were killed in serious accidents either as driver, passenger, pedestrian or on bicycle and need was the contributing factor.

We give credit to the stepped-up enforcement program of all law enforcement officers who have cooperated with our own men, the work of all patrolmen and the Radar machines.

Says Birdsong further, "The Price, Radio, Motion Picture, Outdoor Advertising Agency and the Public as a whole have all helped to make this reduction possible. Let's continue to drive and walk safely!"

Falls are the principal cause of death from home accidents during the year 1951-52, home rank first among these from one to forty-four years of age.

To reduce the suffering loss of life and loss of productive capacity caused by farm home accidents:

Use safety pad or backing for steps to keep them from slipping.

All persons were killed one per accident except where two boys were riding a bicycle double and a car hit them and both were killed. We had 3 boys with no traffic fatalities and one boy who was killed when the driver and passenger alike removed seats from car highways while alone we can be safe when we want to.

Of the 28 killed, 18 were on state and U. S. Close to 120 Mississippi communities have taken an active part in the observance of "Hospitality Month" which is observed in June each year. Many of them are competing for awards in a state-wide "Community Travel Development Contest."

Here is a pictorial story of just a few of the activities of these communities.

Many Springs, North Mississippi, Pilgrimage town, even went so far as to arrange for the marriage of a young couple at its Hospitality Booth. When W. H. Martin of Brownwood, Texas, and Miss Hamelle Meyer of Memphis stopped at the community's booth and indicated they wanted to get married arrangements were made, attendance was secured and the wedding ceremony was performed on the sidewalk in front of the booth.

Officers of Amory in Northwest Mississippi recently stopped out-of-state cars, played host to selected guests, served hotel and motel meals with flowers, but even boarded the trains to serve refreshments and register travelers passing through their community. All but two merchants in the town contributed to the community's expenses and slept every individual night.

Nicknames For Drilling Crews

(Special)—If you ever hear a "roaring lion" roar, there's a "lion" in the oil business. The odd-named individuals at the scene, either for oil.

There are members of an oil crew, workers on the "rig," and equipment which is used in the search for oil and natural gas. Drilling operations are carried out around the clock, the men who are called "lion" are the "digger" who operates the machinery that makes the drill bite into the earth, and the "roughneck" is a misleading name for the man who does the heavy work. The men who are called "lion" are the "digger" who operates the machinery that makes the drill bite into the earth, and the "roughneck" is a misleading name for the man who does the heavy work.

These men are called by names which are respected highly by the members of the oil industry. The lion, the roughneck, and the digger are the most common nicknames. ## Full House Shows Sparkling Musical

As Stellar Cast Shows 'The Desert Rats'

An exceptionally full house greeted the opening of the new musical, "The Desert Rats," at the Star Theatre Sunday and Monday, July 19 and 20.

The show, held in the high school auditorium, was a variety musical, that opened to the final curtain. Donald McCulloch, as Master of Ceremonies, handled the cast with professional address, the band, which included the show, together with the superb musical support, and the singers and dancers, all personality as well as talent.

A musical scene, with a pink horse, set the stage for the show. The curtain opened on the cast singing "Dark Town Strutters Ball," and enjoying the cake walk, including Doc and Barbara Quigley. From there the show slid into a galaxy of stellar specialty acts. The versatility of the performers and the wholesome humor of the jokes and stories kept the audience constantly on the qui vive.

Myrtle Stiffel, who did not disappoint her numerous fans as her numbers brought bursts of applause from the audience. Donnie Tonkel, a master showman at all times, was at his best, not only in his own numbers but as a background for others. George Kramer could well be hailed as a second Ted Lewis with his styling in singing and his handling of the clarinet. Katie Kramer and Sue Goldman at the piano were indispensable to the show.
